

COSTIGAN IS ENDORSED BY CUNNINGHAM

Endorses Him Over Own Party's

Nominee for Governor of Colorado

SHOWS PATTERSON RECORD

Convinced That Best Interests
of Democrats Subservient in
Patterson's Defeat

"I am firmly convinced that the best interests of the Democratic party will be subserved by the defeat of Senator Patterson, who has never been in accord with President Wilson's policy and never professed to be until the public approval of Wilson has become overwhelming as to make further opposition to him obviously futile. I would rather go down to ignominious and everlasting defeat than to ride into power on the public popularity of one whose policies I had consistently and persistently antagonized."

Judge Louis W. Cunningham of this city, a member of the Colorado court appeals for many years, and now a staunch Democrat, makes the above statement in an open letter that is sent out today, and in which he places part of the record of Thomas M. Patterson, his own party nominee for governor, before the voters of the state. The charge contained in the arrangement, Judge Cunningham, must be successfully denied by any candidate for Colorado, nor by Senator Patterson, for he points out, "they are set upon records which fortunately have been preserved."

Had while going on record as an electorally opposed to the election of Patterson, Judge Cunningham endorses a candidacy of Costigan, the Progressive candidate for governor, in the event of Patterson's defeat. Cunningham appears to be in a position to make a very strong statement in support of the Democratic party, and in support of the nomination of Costigan for governor.

Part of the Patterson Record. In the voters of Colorado, regardless of party, who admire Woodrow Wilson, the man or woman who votes for Senator Patterson for governor votes a man—

(1) Who fought the Drake local option bill at every turn (if you doubt this, see editorials in the Denver News, from January to April, 1907, especially the issue of March 20, 1907);

(2) Who opposed the closing of saloons at midnight (see Denver News, June 27, 1913);

(3) Who favored the sale of liquor as a beverage on Sunday (see Denver News, June 27, 1913);

(4) Who criticized district attorneys for enforcing the law when there is a convention in Denver (see Denver News, June 27, 1913);

(5) Who argued in the United States senate for government ownership of all railroads, but in his own fight for public ownership of the Denver railroad terminal, and

IN MOLTKE, CHIEF OF GERMAN STAFF, IS REPORTED DYING

For Trouble Cause; Prussian
Chief Takes Place; Reason for Reverses

LONDON, Oct. 22.—12:10 a. m.—The chief of the German general staff, General von Moltke, is dying. The Amsterdam correspondent says a private letter received in Amsterdam from Berlin yesterday.

Everything the correspondent is doing to keep the news of the death of Moltke in the hands of an affection of the liver. The general was undergoing an operation in July by the German military. He has now had to leave the German headquarters, General Falkenhayn, the Prussian minister of war, being left in charge. Many German officers ascribe the defeat to the German advance to the retreat of General von Moltke.

STANDING ROOM ONLY. WHEN PROGRESSIVES COMPLETE CAMPAIGN

Trip Through State Has Been
Sensational; Costigan
Announces Plans

SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE
VALDENBURG, Oct. 22.—Closing their remarkable 2,000-mile automobile tour of Colorado which has been the big feature of the political campaign, the Progressive candidates tonight spoke to an audience at the opera house here that filled the building to the roof and had scores of interested spectators standing in the aisles.

If the enthusiasm of the crowd was any indication, tonight's meeting was highly successful. Today the speakers left for the next stop, Pueblo, where they will appear at 8 o'clock.

Two particularly interesting announcements were made tonight. One, which appealed to the audience tonight as one of the big events of the campaign, was the announcement by Costigan that he has plans already completed, so that in the event of his election, he will be able to leave at once for Washington to discuss measures with President Wilson for a settlement of the coal strike in the southern field. The details of his plans were not announced. This will give him an opportunity to present the matter before the president and arrange plans for a definite settlement and not have to wait until the inauguration in January, this saving about two months.

The Progressive speakers have been supporting Congressman Keating in his district and Congressman Taylor in his district, as against the Republican nominees. In the western slope district, E. J. Baird, the Republican nominee, is alleged to have stolen his nomination. In the southern Colorado district, McLean, who secured the Progressive as well as the Republican nomination, is charged by the Progressives with treason.

"McLean is no more a Progressive than 'Angel Archie' Stevenson," said Troutman tonight. "The Progressives will not stand for traitors, and we are taking the stump for Keating against McLean Keating and Taylor are better men than these two Republican candidates and their principles are more nearly like ours. Therefore we are doing what we can to help their election. Our announcement of this fact has created a furor in political circles here and the Democrats are showing a very friendly attitude toward us."

COUNTY PROGRESSIVES HOLD PRECINCT MEETING

Speakers Have Lots of Enthusiasm and Declare That Party Is Winning Converts Daily

The home of J. C. Haas, 321 West Bijou street, was well filled last night when county Progressives held a precinct meeting, and everyone evinced deep interest in the informal talks given by C. A. Lemmers, candidate for state senator; Lillian H. Kerr and Thomas E. Thomas, candidates for representative, and John H. Weir, county Progressive chairman. O. L. Burch, precinct committeeman, presided.

The first speaker devoted his time to the "stupid and idiot" Democratic party and the "brimstone covered hall" of Republicanism, while Mrs. Kerr spoke of the importance of having a woman member of the legislature from El Paso county as well as a woman member on the board of county commissioners, citing instances of marked inefficiency in the work of the present board. She also referred to the important part played in the last legislature by the Progressive minority.

A stated by Republicans and Democrats of progressive tendencies and Chairman Weir dwelt on the issue of humanity that animates the Progressive platform and propaganda. All the speakers reported excellent progress in their respective campaigns and expressed the opinion that the entire Progressive ticket will poll majorities in El Paso county. Republicans and Democrats, it was pointed out, are becoming disgusted with the hedging and dodging of their party candidates and will vote the Progressive ticket as standing for something definite.

Tonight a precinct meeting will be held at 7:30 o'clock at the home of W. W. Williams in Jewell. The speakers will be Lillian H. Kerr, C. A. Lemmers and Frank Cunningham.

RUSSIAN SUCCESS AREN'T DECISIVE; MARK TURNING

LONDON, Oct. 22.—4:04 a. m.—The latest Russian success cannot be described as a decisive blow, but it may easily prove to be the turning point in the hostilities. The Petrograd correspondent of the Daily Telegraph says: "It is clear that the German advance toward the Vistula coincided with the virtual completion of the Russian preparations for carrying the war definitely into the enemy's country."

WHERE THEY STAND

Colorado Springs Colo., Oct. 20, 1914.

To the Public:

Inasmuch as the Legislature elected next month will have before it the passing of laws to enforce the Dry Amendment to the Constitution, if it carries, we deem it right and proper that the public know where we stand.

We are for a Dry Colorado, for prohibition, both in the state and nation, and, if elected, pledge ourselves to work for and to vote for the passage of all laws that will make the state dry or help to make it so.

We challenge the four legislative candidates on any other ticket to sign a similar statement.

G. O. P. CLOSING SHOP IN DENVER; NO CASH

Campaign Contributors Stop
Donations; Headquarters
Here Downcast

Those around Republican county headquarters in the Bennett building yesterday were considerably downcast over the news of the closing of the state committee's headquarters in Denver because of the lack of finances. Most of the employees of the state committee have been dismissed, and even Chairman Philip B. Stewart and Secretary Vivian May leave.

This situation was brought about by lack of funds. The funds which had been expected to be raised by the campaign did not materialize. Stewart, it is said, had advanced about $2,000 of his private funds toward the campaign and he will not be able to raise more.

Financiers, such as With Carlson, George A. Carlson and Dr. Hubert Work, Republican nominees for governor and for United States senate, declared, when they heard the news, that they would open new campaign headquarters. It is declared by some of those who are close to the organization that the named individuals who usually finance the Republican campaign, broke with Carlson because he refused to acquiesce in certain demands made upon him and because of his direct declaration for statewide prohibition.

Carlson's brother, Dr. John Carlson, and others have succeeded in obtaining personal subscriptions to add Carlson's campaign to the amount of about $1,500.

It is known that several checks which have been drawn and made payable to the Republican state committee are now pigeon-holed, awaiting action by the dominant spirit in the campaign donations which now refuses to aid the Republican campaign.

Headquarters Here Also Troubled

It is declared that the El Paso county Republican committee has been suffering from the same trouble that has hit the state committee on hard and that scarcely any workers are now in its employ. Certainly the headquarters possess an atmosphere of gloom. In the past the headquarters have been opened quite regularly, but this year there is a scarcity of funds.

Carlson and Work will be in Colorado Springs tonight and will speak at Temple theater. Probably several of the county candidates will be given a chance to talk. The Elks band will furnish music and some Colorado college youths will be present, by invitation, to cheer for Carlson, who formerly played with the Colorado university football team.

Democratic headquarters in the Chamber of Commerce building appeared lively yesterday, if nothing else. A number of workers are out, and already predictions of victory are being made. The fight being made on Congressman Seldemore by the Ancient Order of Disappointed Office-Seekers has died down to some extent, leaving Andy Adams, W. E. Doyle and one or two others in charge. However, the Democrats are worried over the withdrawal of much party support from Senator Patterson in his race for governor. Many Democrats here have deserted to the Progressive ticket because of Patterson's pronounced views against prohibition. Workers in the cause of the statewide prohibition amendment are encouraged, they say. They predict that El Paso county will vote dry by a majority of at least 2,000. Two years ago the county went wet by that majority.

LORIMER CHARGED WITH CONSPIRACY TO RUIN 9 BANKS

With Partners Indicted for Embezzlement, Perjury,
in 13 True Bills

CHICAGO, Oct. 22.—William Lorimer, former occupant of a seat in the United States senate; John K. McGrath, chief clerk in the office of the state auditor, and 15 officers and employees of the Lorimer-Munday chain of banks, of which the La Salle Street Trust and Savings bank was the head, were indicted in the state courts today. Thirteen true bills, charging conspiracy to ruin various banks, operating a confidence game, embezzlement and larceny, were returned.

Lorimer, Munday, Fox, McDonald, G. Fox, junior vice president; Abraham Levin, cashier of the Ashland Twelfth State bank; Edward J. Potts, vice president of the same institution; Paul Hayward, president of the Broadway State bank and member of the drainage board; John F. Rife, vice president of the same bank; Frank H. Novak, attorney and president of the State Bank of Calumet; Charles W. Novak, secretary of the same bank; John B. De Vene, former president of the International Trust and Savings bank; Harry W. Huttig, manager and director of the Rose Hill Cemetery company, former director of the La Salle street bank, and William Lorimer, Jr., son of William Lorimer, and head of the firm of William Lorimer, Jr., & Co.

FIERCE FIGHTING STILL IN PROGRESS WITH NO GAINS FOR EITHER SIDE

Vigorous Attacks and Counter-Attacks Are
Made, but German and Allies Are So
Nearly Matched That Neither Can Force
Other Back; British Fleet Still Aiding

TEUTONS ADVANCE ON EAST PRUSSIA FRONTIER; RETREAT FROM IVANGOROD

Belgian Villages on Coast Razed by Fire From the British Battleships; Indian Troops Reach France
and Will Go Into Action Next Week; Russians
Are Driven Out of Hungary South of Przemyśl

LONDON, Oct. 22.—Desperate fighting continues in West Flanders and northern France between Germany's armies, reinforced by virtually all her forces in the occupied portions of Belgium, and the French, British and Belgian troops, aided by British warships.

Along the coast the Yser river still divides the counter-fighting forces. Neither side, apparently, has been able to advance, but in the interior, according to a German report tonight, the allies are stirring from several important positions.

This statement of the Germans is contradicted, however, by the allied communication sent in Paris this afternoon, which says the allies have not been moved, despite violent attacks on the invaders.

All along the front, from the North Sea to the Swiss border, in fact, each side claims to have repulsed the attacks of the other or to have made slight progress at various points.

The contending armies are fighting nearly equal in strength with each other, but the allies have large quantities of ammunition and provisions in the trenches they had prepared for their defense.

"The shells of the allies are raining down upon the Germans at Ostend and Neuport, causing terrific destruction," the Telegram's Antwerp correspondent reports.

FRESH GERMAN TROOPS SOON FILL UP THE GAPS

"The battlefields are covered with bodies," the dispatch continues, "but fresh German troops continue to arrive. Since morning the Germans have retreated slightly."

"A French squadron is supporting the English warships which the German gunners have difficulty in reaching."

"The German cavalry is useless and the men and horses alike are being mowed down."

"The allies' positions are strongly fortified by intercommunications and inundation of the territory. The allies at Ostend and Neuport also are firing in the direction of Jabbeke, about seven miles southwest of Bruges in order to destroy the railway line between Ostend and Bruges."

"All the Ostend hotels are filled with wounded."

In Poland the preliminary battle, at least, has moved a little more swiftly. The Russians report that they have been able to drive back the first German offensive move against Warsaw, the Polish capital, and the fortress of Ivangorod. All the Russian accounts refer to this as a great victory. They

TEUTON ADVANCE ON THE EAST PRUSSIAN FRONTIER

German headquarters heretofore had made no reference to this struggle, but today it says that after several days of battle no fighting was reported yesterday and no decisive result has been achieved.

Apparently there has been more fighting on the East Prussian frontier where the situation has been quiet for some time, as the German report says, "Our troops are pursuing the retreating enemy in the direction of Osovetz."

Osovetz is the fortress which was in range of the German guns several weeks ago, when their advance on the Niemen failed.

The battle around Poznan and south of that city is still going on, but further south the Austrians claim they have cleared the Russians out of Hungary and are advancing toward Bukovina, a crown land in eastern Galicia, with the same object in view.

As though the Belgians had not already suffered sufficiently from the war, the villages along the coast north of Ostend are being razed by shell fire. Lying as they do between the German lines and the British warships, some of them are reported to have been wiped out and others badly damaged. It is believed, however, that virtually all the inhabitants of the villages fled when the Belgian army retired behind the Yser river.

INDIAN TROOPS TO GO INTO ACTION NEXT WEEK

Lord Crewe, secretary of state for India, officially disclosed in a speech delivered last Tuesday but made public only today that the Indian troops in France have not yet taken part in any of the battles. The men and their horses required considerable time to become acclimated, but the belief here is that they soon will be ready to take their places at the front. The hospitals have been advised to get ready next week for their wounded.

Again today it was reported that Italy had landed marines at Avlona, Albania. Such a step, it is generally believed here, would not be resented by any power at the present moment when the situation in Albania is so serious because of the warring tribes and the strife between the contenders for the crown of the new nation, which was surrendered recently by Prince William of Wied, who ruled for a few months.

REVOLTING ARABS KILL HALF FRENCH IN AFRICA

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Oct. 22.—"Arabs in revolt against the French have killed more than half of the French officers in charge of the troops in northern Africa," Dr. W. E. Lowther, a Methodist missionary from Algiers and Morocco, declared on his arrival here today.

WESTMINSTER ABBEY IS INSURED AGAINST AIRCRAFT

LONDON, Oct. 22.—1:50 a. m.—Westminster abbey has been insured for $750,000 against damages from air craft attacks.

WHY?

Why, if prohibition kills a town, did the prohibition city of Chattanooga, Tennessee, grow 47.9 per cent in the decade 1900-10?

Why, if prohibition increases the consumption of liquor, did Chattanooga consume only 1,300 gallons in a recent thirty days (according to the Morning Times of that city), when if they had used as much as the average for the whole United States, they would have consumed 89,208 gallons?

Why did National President Timothy McDonough, in an address before the state convention of Iowa liquor dealers, May 23, 1911, say: "The resolutions of the brewers in regard to dives sound well, but they are all rot?"

Why, if the saloon is a great thing, did a writer in Bonfort's Wine and Spirit Circular for January 10, say: "I have heard a distiller and importer say that he would fight to the last ditch any attempt to establish a saloon in the neighborhood in which he resides. If the people engaged in this business feel that way about it, they cannot find fault with others offering the same objections."

Why, if prohibition inhibits the sale of liquor, did Lee Bernheim, of the E. Bernheim Distilling company, say, in reviewing the year in Bonfort's Wine and Spirit Circular, January 10, 1914: "Russia has been bad in Ohio, Texas and Arkansas. Adversely legislation cut down the business very heavily?"

Why should the taxpayer pay the high cost of drinking? According to the U. S. statistics of the committee of fifty, 35 per cent of poverty and 27 per cent of pauperism is due directly to drink, as well as 48.8 per cent of child relief and 50 per cent of crime. According to Dr. Ross of Clark university, 25 per cent or about 50,000 of the insane in America are insane directly or indirectly because of drink. United States government reports show that about 20 per cent of divorce has a similar cause.

Why, if it is true that the saloon is a good thing, did the Business Journal of May 1, 1914, say: "The saloon has been a curse to the land of the good of America?"

SHOWS PATTERSON RECORD

Convinced That Best Interests
of Democrats Subservient in
Patterson's Defeat

"I am firmly convinced that the best interests of the Democratic party will be subserved by the defeat of Senator Patterson, who has never been in accord with President Wilson's policy and never professed to be until the public approval of Wilson had become so overwhelming as to make further opposition to him obviously futile. I would rather go down to ignominious and everlasting defeat than to ride into power on the public popularity of one whose policies I had consistently and persistently antagonized."

Judge Louis W. Cunningham of this city, a member of the Colorado court of appeals for many years, and now a staunch Democrat, makes the above statement in an open letter that is given out today, and in which he places a part of the record of Thomas M. Patterson, his own party nominee for governor, before the voters of the state. Every charge contained in the arraignment, declares Judge Cunningham, cannot be successfully denied by any Democrat familiar with the political history of Colorado, nor by Senator Patterson for, he points out, they are based upon records which fortunately have been preserved.

And while going on record as emphatically opposed to the election of Patterson, Judge Cunningham indorses the candidacy of Costigan, the Progressive's gubernatorial nominee. "The path is," he says, "that Edward P. Costigan, who, by the way, is a Democrat, approaches in his political views and even-tempered self-poise, much more nearly to the Wilson type of Democracy than does Thomas M. Patterson. I confess I had been impressed with Mr. Costigan's courage for years before I knew him. When I find a man like this pitted against a man with the record Senator Patterson has made during the last few years, it will require something more than the cry of party regularity or that a vote for Costigan is a vote for Carlson, to drive me from the side."

Judge Cunningham's letter follows:
Part of the Patterson Record.
To the voters of Colorado, regardless of party, who admire Woodrow Wilson:

- The man or woman who votes for Senator Patterson for governor votes for a man—
- (1) Who fought the Drake local option bill at every turn (if you doubt this, see editorials in the Denver News, from January to April, 1907, especially the issue of March 20, 1907);
 - (2) Who opposed the closing of saloons at midnight (see Denver News, June 27, 1913);
 - (3) Who favored the sale of liquor as a beverage on Sunday and has so stated publicly;
 - (4) Who criticizes district attorneys for enforcing the law when there is a convention in Denver (see Denver News, June 27, 1913);

VON MOLTKE, CHIEF OF GERMAN STAFF, IS REPORTED DYING

Liver Trouble Cause; Prussian Chief Takes Place; Reason for Reverses

LONDON, Oct. 23.—12:10 A. M.—Gen. Count Helmuth von Moltke, chief of the German general staff, is dying. The Exchange Telegraph's Amsterdam correspondent says a private letter received in Amsterdam from Berlin yesterday.

"Everything," the correspondent adds, "is being done to keep the news secret. General von Moltke is suffering from an affection of the liver. The cause was an underlying liver condition. He has now had to leave General von Falkenhayn, the Prussian minister of war, being left in charge. Many German officers ascribe the defeat to the German advance to the west retirement of General von Moltke."

Those around Republican county headquarters in the Bennett building yesterday were considerably downcast over the news of the closing of the state committee's headquarters in Denver because of the lack of finances. Most of the employees of the state committee have been dismissed, and even Chairman Philip B. Stewart and Secretary Vivian may leave.

Stewart, it is said, had advanced about $2,500 of his personal funds toward the campaign and has not been able to reimburse himself.

Financiers Break With Carlson.
George A. Carlson and Dr. Robert Work, Republican nominees for governor and for United States senate, declared, when they heard the news, that they would open new campaign headquarters. It is declared by some of those who are close to the organization that the named individuals, who usually finance the Republican campaign, broke with Carlson because he refused to acquiesce in certain demands made upon him and because of his direct declaration for statewide prohibition.

Carlson's brother, Dr. John Carlson, and others have succeeded in obtaining personal subscriptions to aid Carlson's campaign to the amount of about $15,000.

It is known that several checks which have been drawn and made payable to the Republican state committee are now pigeon-holed, awaiting action by the dominant spirit in the campaign donations, which now refused to aid the Republican campaign.

LORIMER CHARGED WITH CONSPIRACY TO RUIN 9 BANKS

With Partners Indicted for Embezzlement, Larceny,
in 13 True Bills

CHICAGO, Oct. 22.—William Lorimer, former occupant of a seat in the United States senate; John K. McGrave, chief clerk in the office of the state auditor, and 12 officers and employees of the Lorimer-Munday chain of banks, of which the La Salle Street Trust and Savings bank was the head, were indicted in the state courts today. Thirteen true bills, charging conspiracy to ruin various banks, operating a confidence game, embezzlement and larceny, were returned.

Lorimer, Munday, Fox, McDonald and J. P. Gallagher of the Lorimer & Gallagher Construction company are already under indictment in the United States courts, charged with misapplication of funds in the La Salle street bank while it was a national bank, prior to its incorporation as a state institution.

Besides Lorimer, the others indicted today were Charles B. Munday, vice president of the La Salle street bank; Thomas McDonald, cashier; Charles G. Fox, junior vice president; Abraham Levin, cashier of the Ashland Twelfth State bank; Edward J. Potts, vice president of the same institution; Paul Hazard, president of the Broadway State bank and member of the drainage board; John E. Rife, vice president of the same bank; Frank H. FIERCE FIGHTING STILL IN PROGRESS WITH NO GAINS FOR EITHER SIDE

Made, but German and Allies Are So
Nearly Matched That Neither Can Force

TEUTONS ADVANCE ON EAST PRUSSIA
FRONTIER; RETREAT FROM IVANGOROD

Belgian Villages on Coast Razed by Fire From the British Battleships; Indian Troops Reach France
and Will Go Into Action Next Week; Russians
Are Driven Out of Hungary South of Przemyśl

LONDON, Oct. 22.—Desperate fighting continues in West Flanders and northern France between Germany's armies, reinforced by virtually all her forces in the occupied portions of Belgium, and the French, British and Belgian troops, aided by British warships.

Along the coast the Yser river still divides the contending forces. Neither side, apparently, has been able to advance, but in the interior, according to a German report issued tonight, the allies are stirring from several important positions.

This statement of the Germans is contradicted, however, by the French communication issued in Paris this afternoon, which says the allies have not been moved, despite violent attacks on the invaders.

All along the front, from the North sea to the Swiss border, in fact, each side claims to have repelled the attacks of the other or to have made slight progress at various points.

The contending armies seemingly are so nearly equal in strength that neither can force the other back, pierce the front or get around the wings.

"The shells of the allies are raining down upon the Germans at Ostend and Newport, causing terrific destruction," the Telegraph's Antwerp correspondent reports.

TEUTON ADVANCE ON THE EAST PRUSSIAN FRONTIER

German headquarters heretofore had made no reference to this struggle, but today it says that after several days of battle no fighting was reported yesterday and no decisive result has been achieved.

Apparently there has been more fighting on the East Prussian frontier where the situation has been quiet for some time, as the German report says: "Our troops are pursuing the retreating enemy in the direction of Osovetz."

Osovetz is the fortress which was in range of the German guns several weeks ago, when their advance on the Niemen failed.

The battle around Pleszew and south of that city is still going on, but further south the Austrians claim they have cleared the Russians out of Hungary and are advancing toward Bukovina, a crown land in eastern Galicia with the same object in view.

As though the Belgians had not already suffered sufficiently from the war, the villages along the coast north of Ostend are being razed by shell fire. Lying as they do between the German lines and the British warships, some of them are reported to have been wiped out and others badly damaged. It is believed, however, that virtually all the inhabitants of the villages fled when the Belgian army retired behind the Yser river.

In Poland the preliminary battle, at least, has moved a little more swiftly. The Russians report that they have been able to drive back the first German offensive move against Warsaw, the Polish capital, and the fortress of Ivangorod. All the Russian accounts refer to this as a great victory. They

Lord Crewe, secretary of state for India, officially disclosed in a speech delivered last Tuesday but made public only today that the Indian troops in France have not yet taken part in any of the battles. The men and their horses required considerable time to become acclimated, but the belief here is that they soon will be ready to take their places at the front. The hospitals have been advised to get ready next week for their wounded.

Again today it was reported that Italy had landed marines at Avlona, Albania. Such a step, it is generally believed here, would not be regarded by any power at the present moment when the situation in Albania is so serious because of the warring tribes and the strife between the contenders for the crown of the new nation, which was surrendered recently by Prince William of Wied, who ruled for a few months.

Glittera's Captain Tells How Germans Sunk Ship

LONDON, Oct. 21.—Captain Johnson and 16 men of the crew of the British steamer Glittera which was sunk by a German submarine, have arrived in Stavanger, Norway, from Skudenes, according to a dispatch to the Reuters Telegram company from that place. In telling of his experience, Captain Johnson said:

"The Glittera left Grangemouth, Scotland, Sunday noon with coal and coke for Stavanger. At half past 12 Tuesday afternoon the German submarine N-17 popped out of the water to the starboard and stopped us about nine miles southwest of Skudenes. No other craft was in sight.

"The submarine sent a boat aboard with five men. With revolvers in hand they ordered the English flag taken down threatening to shoot me if I did not obey. Furthermore they allowed me not more than 10 minutes to let down the lifeboats and take off the crew.

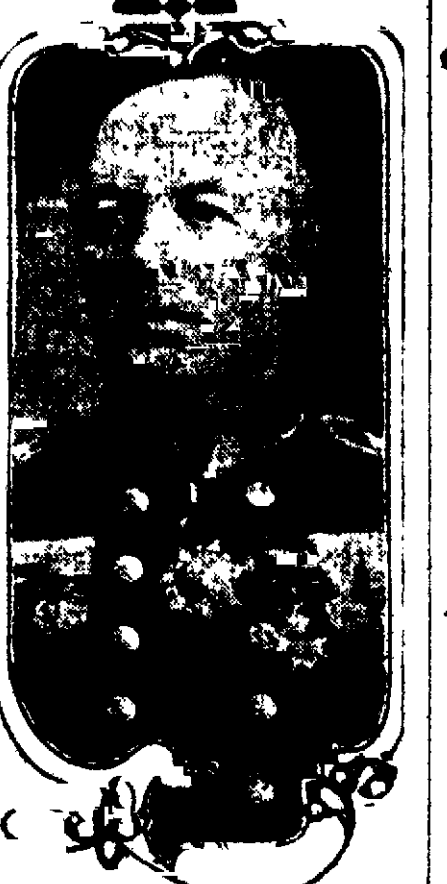

"I took down the flag whereupon the German officer tore it out of my hands and trampled it under foot. I was forced to take the ship's papers back when I attempted to take them off and none of the crew was allowed to take any of his belongings.

"The crew went in two lifeboats which the submarine quickly towed 500 yards from the Glittera. Three Germans remained aboard searched the ship thoroughly and rapidly and one of them evidently opened the bottom valve, because the rear of the ship began to sink. Then in a few minutes the Glittera disappeared quietly.

"We were ordered to row to the shore. When we reached Norwegian sea territory we met a pilot boat which towed us until a Norwegian torpedo boat took us aboard. The Glittera was not insured."

COAST DEFENSES NEED 11,552 MORE MEN, SAYS CHIEF

One Also Far Too Small to Properly Defend Ports, Weaver Reports

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—An urgent plea for more men to garrison the country's coast defenses was made by Brig. Gen. E. M. Weaver, chief of coast artillery, in his annual report submitted today to Secretary Garrison.

Calling attention to the fact that many of the foreign warships of latest design are to carry guns larger than 14 inches in caliber, General Weaver asked that 16-inch guns be provided for Cape Henry.

"Otherwise," he said, "these fortifications may be subjected not only to a very much greater volume of fire than that volume of fire that can be delivered by them, but also have the disadvantage of replying to that fire with guns of inferior power both by reason of the diameter of the bore of the gun and by reason of its shorter length."

Of the need for additional artillery, the general said: "The supply of coast artillery troops for the United States proper is so far below the requirements as to make it a matter deserving the serious consideration of congress."

He reported 564 officers and 10,998 men below the needed number, explaining that the taking of companies, to which must be added 24 more in the near future, for service in the Philippines, Hawaii and the Canal Zone had crippled the service at home.

"Unless provision is made in the near future," the report continued, "for additional coast artillery personnel, it will be necessary to reduce the garrisons to mere caretakers detachments at some of the defenses of lesser importance."

one of the chain, closed its doors voluntarily. The chief indictment today alleged the plotting of the La Salle street bank of $2,000,000 of money and securities, Lorimer, Sr., Huttig McDonald, Fox and Segrave were defendants and were charged with conspiring by false pretenses to appropriate to their own use property of the public and depositors and creditors of the bank, and of the Broadway State bank, the Ashland Twelfth State bank, the Illinois State bank, the State Bank of Calumet, the Farmers' bank of Bethalto, Ill., the Citizens' bank of Alhambra, Ill., the State bank of Marine, Ill., the State bank of Channahon, Ill., and the Rose Hill Cemetery company.

The first count alleges that the defendants conspired to possess $1,000,000 in money and $1,000,000 in collateral in the La Salle street bank, transferring it to themselves in exchange for securities of little, uncertain or no value. The second count charges the defendants with conspiring to cheat the subsidiary banks and defraud the Rose Hill Cemetery company of like sums of money and securities of value unknown.

Charges in Other Counts.

Other counts charged conspiracy to operate a confidence game, to cheat the bank by agreement, to deceive the state auditor, to loan money to officers of the bank, to loan money to irresponsible persons and to violate the banking laws of the state. Segrave, Munday, Levin and Potts were charged with conspiracy to ruin the Ashland Twelfth State bank, Hazard and Segrave, Munday and Rice were charged with conspiring to ruin the Broadway State bank, Frank and Charles Novak and Munday, conspiring to ruin the State bank of Calumet, Le Veay and Munday, conspiring to ruin the International Trust and Savings bank and Huttig, Munday, Segrave and Lorimer, Jr. with conspiring to ruin the Rose Hill Cemetery company by substituting securities of little or no value for good securities.

Lorimer, Munday, Fox, Levin and Potts were charged with receiving deposits at the La Salle street and Ashland Twelfth State banks when they were insolvent.

Other counts charged Munday with a confidence game to defraud the La Salle street bank of stock valued at $108,750 in the firm of A. H. Hill & Co. bankers, and the operation of a confidence game and larceny on the Auburn State bank by means of kited checks involving $40,000.

Huttig, Munday and Lorimer, Jr. were charged with the embezzlement of securities of the Rose Hill Cemetery company. The indictments contained from one to 12 counts each.

Caplases for the arrest of the defendants will be issued tomorrow.

NO SUCH THING AS UNTALENTED PEOPLE

In the November Woman's Home Companion, Anne Bryan McCall, writing a Tower Room talk entitled, "The Talented Girl," says that, "strictly speaking, there are no untalented people." She continues in part as follows:

"When we envy the gifts of others, we do but forget our own. You may tell me what you please about your life being ungifted. No life is ungifted. There is no personality which has not its own peculiar and rich talents. If our lives seem to us untalented—un-gifted, let us be sure it is only because we have allowed our natural gifts to lie uncultivated."

"We are all—richly born," says Stevenson, "with his characteristic gift of insight, and then, with his characteristic thoughtfulness, he adds: 'Fortunate those who know; blessed those who remember.'"

CHILDREN HATE PILLS, CALOMEL AND CASTOR OIL

If cross, feverish, constipated, give "California Syrup of Figs"

Look back at your childhood days. Remember the "dose" mother insisted on—castor oil, calomel, cathartics. How you hated them, how you fought against taking them.

With our children it's different. Mothers who cling to the old form of physic simply don't realize what they do. The children's revolt is well-founded. Their tender little "insides" are injured by them.

If your child's stomach, liver and bowels need cleansing give only delicious California Syrup of Figs. Its action is positive but gentle. Millions of mothers keep this harmless fruit laxative handy. They know children love to take it, that it never fails to clean the liver and bowels and sweeten the stomach and that a teaspoonful given today saves a sick child tomorrow.

Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of California Syrup of Figs, which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on each bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. See that it is made by "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt. Adv.

thus opposed such progressive Democrats as the Hon. John R. McInerney.

(6) Who joined hands with the great railroad attorneys of Colorado in their successful efforts to raise the public utilities bill, drawn by Justice Tully Scott and defended by as courageous a band of Democrats as ever drew swords on defense of progressive Democracy.

(7) Who remained as silent as the footfall of thought in the hollows of the soul while the bank guarantee bill was crucified in three successive sessions of the legislature. I have searched in vain through the files of the Rocky Mountain News for an editorial favoring this great Democratic measure which Senator Thomas, former Bank Commissioner, Emil W. Pfeiffer and other Democratic Democrats, fought so heroically to save. If I have done the senator an injustice in this charge, doubtless he can point to some editorial statement of his favoring the bank guarantee bill or, if I am in error, I would be glad to have my good friend, the former bank commissioner of Senator Thomas correct me. My theory is that in a crisis like that which confronted the people when the bank guarantee law was pending, he that is not with me is against me.

Moffat Tunnel Bond Issue

(8) Who attempted to saddle the Moffat tunnel bond issue upon the entire state of Colorado and who succeeded in saddling it upon the people of Denver only to have the act which he repeatedly assured the people was in every way regular, declared by the supreme court sitting en banc, to be unlawful and utterly void—Justice Gabbert alone of the seven judges agreeing with Senator Patterson's views.

(9) Whose views on the tariff are those of the late Samuel J. Randall and Senator Arthur C. Vane Gorman as opposed to the views entertained by Woodrow Wilson and William Jennings Bryan. (The broadheads signed by Senator Patterson in the Denver News of May 11, June 15 and June 26, 1913, and the cartoon in the June 15 issue) I will contribute $100 to the Democratic state campaign fund if Senator Patterson will before November 7 read to a public audience of his city in Colorado of 5,000 population or more his signed article, which appeared in the Denver News of May 11, 1913.

Assailed Fellow Democrats.

(11) Who has fought more Democrats than he has supported during the last 10 years, having assailed in the bitterest terms fully half of the Democrats now running on the state ticket, with him.

"No Democrat familiar with the political history of Colorado will dispute a single charge I have here made. Even Senator Patterson cannot deny them, as they are based upon records which have fortunately been preserved. 'I have no quarrel with any voter, but such report cannot consistently be based upon 'party loyalty' for that is a grotesque term, when applied to the senator—not upon 'for Wilson's sake.'"

"The truth is that Edward P. Costigan (who—Senator Patterson has stated publicly would make an ideal governor) approaches in his political views and even tempered self-poise, much more nearly to the Wilson type of Democracy than does Thomas M. Patterson."

BRITISH PRESS HIGH IN PRAISE OF WILSON

Will Do Nothing Now That Is Not Prompted by Highest Sense of Justice

LONDON, Oct. 22.—A 2.15 a.m.—Evidently an impression exists in the United States," says the Morning Post in an editorial today, "that there has been criticism in the British press of President Wilson's position regarding peace. This impression is fostered by undue importance attached to certain American newspaper utterances."

During the civil war our position toward the United States was the same as the United States holds toward us today. We desired to see the differences of the north and south composed for ethical as well as material reasons. Then, as now, cotton was the cause of our anxieties. We wanted cotton and could not obtain it. Today the United States has cotton, but cannot sell it.

All this perhaps explains the movement in the United States in favor of mediation—a movement which no doubt, is encouraged by our enemies. But the machinations of our enemies and the schemes of others who would turn the matter into a huckster stall are well understood by President Wilson, we are told, and there is no fear that the president will walk into the trap.

President Wilson has shown himself singularly well balanced, restrained and judicious. He has been courageous enough to do an unpopular thing because he believed it right as his demand for the repeal of the Panama tolls showed. He dared challenge public opinion and displayed patience and wisdom in the settlement of the Mexican problem and we feel certain that President Wilson will do nothing that is not prompted by the highest sense of justice.

for organized labor, I reply that his position on that question cannot be more satisfactory to those who toil than is Mr. Costigan's. I confess I had been impressed by Mr. Costigan's courage for years before I knew him or had met him. Ten years or more ago when railroad rate abuses were little thought of by the man in the street, Mr. Costigan was the pioneer voice crying in the wilderness of ignorant indifference against them and for the people. When I find a man like this pitted against a man with the record Senator Patterson has made during the last few years, it will require something more fearsome than the cry of 'party regularity' or that a vote for Costigan is a vote for 'Carlson' to drive me from his side. I have fought for principle in too many losing battles to be discouraged by the prophecies of defeat that ought to be false if they are not.

"I am actuated by no personal feeling whatever in taking the position I have taken. In the 30 or more years that I have known Senator Patterson, I have one unkind word said between us and as for Mr. Costigan, I have not met or spoken to him for certainly considerably more than a year. And, so far as I can now recall I have never met him to exceed two or three times in my life."

Not a Patterson Democrat.

"I have no more thought of leaving the Democratic party and joining the Progressive party than Senator Patterson had of forsaking the Democratic party and joining the Progressive party when he bolted the senate Democratic caucus and supported President Roosevelt's San Domingo policy. My faith in the Democratic party was never more firmly fixed than now, and I have no more intention of quitting it and joining the Progressive party than Senator Patterson had of uniting with the Republican party when he bolted Judge Gunther's nomination and threw his whole soul and his great newspaper to the support of Judge Gabbert."

"On both occasions Senator Patterson doubtless believed that he was, by his action serving the best interests of his party, but however this may be I am firmly convinced that the best interests of the Democratic party in Colorado will be subserved by the defeat of Senator Patterson who, as I have pointed out has never been in accord with President Wilson's policy, and never professed to be until the public approval of Wilson had become so overwhelming as to make further opposition to him obviously futile."

"For myself, I would rather go down to ignominious and everlasting defeat, standing for what I believe to be right, than to ride into power on the public popularity of one whose policies I had consistently and persistently antagonized."

TIMBER BUSINESS IS HEALTHY IN CENTRAL ROCKIES

As evidence that the general depression in the manufacturing end of the lumber business so keenly felt now in the Pacific coast and southern gulf states, has not spread to Colorado, Wyoming and South Dakota, local officers of the federal forest service point to a steady business in native timber with both the small and large mills in these three states. It is also stated that an increasing interest is being manifested in government timber within this district by southern and western capital, the most promising inquiries coming from individuals or firms interested in box manufacture.

Already there is indication that a large middle-western box concern will enter the manufacturing business in South Dakota at an early date and the establishment of similar enterprises in Colorado seems assured in the near future.

Several large eastern companies interested in wood-block paving have also made inquiries concerning suitable tracts of timber in Colorado and Wyoming. The addition of this business to the timber industry in the central Rockies would be welcomed from every angle.

Aged Man Wanders From Poor Farm; Is Rushed to Hospital
John Surder Green, about 65 years old, and an inmate of the county poor farm, who disappeared from the institution Wednesday night, was found late yesterday afternoon near Mill and Conover streets. He was in a state bordering on collapse when taken to St. Francis hospital in the police ambulance and fears are entertained for his recovery. So far as can be learned, the aged man was exposed to the rain and cold of Thursday night and yesterday and had nothing to eat during that time. He is supposed to have wandered away from the poor farm early in the evening.

Then what do you suppose is the condition of things in Canada, a portion of the British empire? We are not overworked in Canada anyway. We are leaving all our property behind us. Will we get it back? NO SUCH THING AS UNTALENTED PEOPLE

In the November Woman's Home Companion, Anne Bryan McCall, writing a Tower Room talk entitled, "The Talented Girl," says that, "strictly speaking, there are no untalented people." She continues in part as follows:

"When we envy the gifts of others we do but forget our own. You may tell me what you please about your life being ungifted. No life is ungifted. There is no personality which has not its own peculiar and rich talents. If our lives seem to us untalented, ungifted, let us be sure it is only because we have allowed our natural gifts to lie uncultivated."

"We are all—bly born," says Stevenson, with his characteristic insight and insight; and then, with his characteristic thoughtfulness, he adds: "Fortunately those who know; blessed those who remember."

CHILDREN HATE PILLS, CALOMEL AND CASTOR OIL

If cross, feverish, constipated, give "California Syrup of Figs"

Look back at your childhood days. Remember the "dose" mother insisted on—castor oil, calomel, cathartics. How you hated them, how you fought against taking them.

With our children it's different. Mothers who cling to the old form of physic simply don't realize what they do. The children's revolt is well-founded. Their tender little "insides" are injured by them.

If your child's stomach, liver and bowels need cleansing, give only delicious "California Syrup of Figs." Its action is positive, but gentle. Millions of mothers keep this harmless "fruit laxative" handy; they know children love to take it; that it never fails to clean the liver and bowels and sweeten the stomach, and that a teaspoonful given today saves a sick child tomorrow.

Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on each bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. See that it is made by "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt. Adv.

COSTIGAN IS INDORSED BY CUNNINGHAM

thus opposed such progressive Democrats as the Hon. John B. McGowan:

(4) Who joined hands with the great railroad attorneys of Colorado in their successful efforts to raise the public utilities bill, drawn by Justice Tully Scott and defended by as courageous a band of Democrats as ever drew swords on defense of progressive Democracy.

(5) Who remained as silent "as the footfall of thought in the hollows of the soul" while the bank guarantee bill was crucified in three successive sessions of the legislature. I have searched in vain through the files of the Rocky Mountain News for an editorial favoring this great Democratic measure, which Senator Thomas, former Bank Commissioner Emil W. Pfeiffer and other Democratic Democrats, fought so heroically to save. If I have done the senator an injustice in this charge, doubtless he can point to some editorial statement of his favoring the bank guarantee bill, or, if I am in error, I would be glad to have my good friend, the former bank commissioner, or Senator Thomas correct me. My theory is that in a crisis like that which confronted the people when the bank guarantee law was pending, "he that is not with me is against me."

Moffat Tunnel Bond Issue.

(6) Who attempted to saddle the Moffat tunnel bond issue upon the entire state of Colorado and who succeeded in saddling it upon the people of Denver, only to have the act, which he repeatedly assured the people was in every way regular, declared by the supreme court, sitting en banc, to be unlawful and utterly void—Justice Gabbert alone of the seven judges agreeing with Senator Patterson's views.

(7) Whose views on the tariff are those of the late Samuel J. Randall and Senator Arthur Pue Gorman, as opposed to the views entertained by Woodrow Wilson and William Jennings Bryan (the broadsides signed by Senator Patterson in the Denver News of May 11, June 15 and June 16, 1913, and the cartoon in the June 15 issue). I will contribute $100 to the Democratic state campaign fund if Senator Patterson will, before November 3, read to a public audience of any city in Colorado of 5,000 population or more, his signed article, which appeared in the Denver News of May 11, 1913.

(8) Who opposed the Wilson administration in the canal tolls contest and, as late as April 13, 1914, refused to join in a telegram repeal of the canal tolls bill and the time when that fight had reached a crisis in the senate (See also Denver News editorial, January 13, 1913).

Assailed Fellow Democrats.

(9) Who has fought more Democrats than he has supported during the last 40 years, having assailed in the latterst terms fully half of the Democrats now running on the state ticket with him.

"No Democrat familiar with the political history of Colorado will dispute a single charge I have here made. Even Senator Patterson cannot deny them, as they are based upon records which have fortunately been preserved."

"I have no quarrel with any voter, but such report cannot consistently be based upon 'party loyalty'—for that is a grotesque term, when applied to the senator—or upon 'Wilson's sake.'"

"The truth is that Edward P. Costigan (who Senator Patterson has stated publicly would make an ideal governor) approaches in his political views and even tempered self-poise, much more nearly to the Wilson type of Democracy than does Thomas M. Patterson."

"If it be said that Patterson stands

BRITISH PRESS HIGH IN PRAISE OF WILSON

Will Do Nothing Now That Is Not Prompted by Highest Sense of Justice

LONDON, Oct. 22.—8.25 a. m.—"Evidently an impression exists in the United States," says the Morning Post in an editorial today, "that there has been criticism in the British press of President Wilson's position regarding peace. This impression was fostered by undue importance attached to certain American newspaper utterances."

"During the civil war our position toward the United States was the same as the United States holds toward us today. We desired to see the differences of the north and south composed for ethical as well as material reasons. Then, as now, cotton was the cause of our anxiety. We wanted cotton and could not obtain it. Today the United States has cotton, but cannot sell it."

"All this, perhaps, explains the movement in the United States in favor of mediation—a movement which no doubt, is encouraged by our enemies. But the machinations of our enemies and the schemes of others, who would turn the altar into a huckster stall, are well understood by President Wilson, and there is no fear that the president will walk into the trap."

"President Wilson has shown himself singularly well balanced, restrained and judicious. He has been courageous enough to do an unpopular thing because he believed it right, as his demand for the repeal of the Panama toll law showed. He dared challenge public opinion and displayed patience and wisdom in the settlement of the Mexican problem and we feel certain that President Wilson will do nothing that is not prompted by the highest sense of justice."

for organized labor, I reply that his position on that question cannot be more satisfactory to those who toll than is Mr. Costigan's. I confess I had been impressed by Mr. Costigan's courage for years before I knew him or had met him. Ten years or more ago, when railroad rate abuses were little thought of by the man in the street, Mr. Costigan was the pioneer voice crying in the wilderness of ignorant indifference against them and for the people. When I find a man like this pitted against a man with the record Senator Patterson has made during the last few years, it will require something more fearsome than the cry of 'party regulars, etc.' or that a vote for Costigan is a vote for Carson, to drive me from his side. I have fought for principle in too many losing battles to be discouraged by the prospect of defeat that ought to be false, if they are not.

"I am actuated by no personal feeling whatever in taking the position I have. Never, in the 20 or more years that I have known Senator Patterson, has one unpleasant word passed between us; and as for Mr. Costigan, I have not met or spoken to him for considerably more than a year. And, so far as I can now recall, I have never met him to exceed two or three times in my life."

Not a Patterson Democrat.

"I have no more thought of leaving the Democratic party and joining the Progressive party than Senator Patterson had of forsaking the Democratic party and joining the Progressive party when he bolted the senate Democratic caucus and supported President Roosevelt's San Domingo policy. My faith in the Democratic party was never more firmly fixed than now, and I have no more intention of quitting it and joining the Progressive party than Senator Patterson had of uniting with the Republican party when he bolted Judge Gonthier's nomination and threw his whole soul and his great newspaper to the support of Judge Garfield."

"On both occasions Senator Patterson doubtless believed that he was, by his action, serving the best interests of his party; but, however true may be, I am firmly convinced that the best interests of the Democratic party in Colorado will be subserved by the defeat of Senator Patterson, who, as I have pointed out, has never been in accord with President Wilson's policy, and never professed to be until the public approval of Wilson had become so overwhelming as to make further opposition to him obviously futile."

"For myself, I would rather go down to ignominious and everlasting defeat, standing for what I believe to be right, than to ride into power on the public popularity of one whose policies I had consistently and persistently antagonized."

TIMBER BUSINESS IS HEALTHY IN CENTRAL ROCKIES

As evidence that the general depression in the manufacturing end of the lumber business so keenly felt now in the Pacific coast and southern gulf states, has not spread to Colorado, Wyoming and South Dakota, local officers of the federal forest service point to a steady business in native timber with both the small and large mills in these three states. It is also stated that an increasing interest is being manifested in government timber within this district by southern and western capital, the most promising inquiries coming from individuals or firms interested in box manufacture.

Already there is indication that a large middle-western box concern will enter the manufacturing business in South Dakota at an early date and the establishment of similar enterprises in Colorado seems assured in the near future.

Several large eastern companies interested in wood-blocks, having also made inquiries concerning suitable tracts of timber in Colorado and Wyoming. The addition of this business to the timber industry in the central Rockies would be welcomed from every angle.

Aged Man Wanders From Poor Farm; Is Rushed to Hospital
John Surder Green, about 65 years old, and an inmate of the county poor farm, who disappeared from the institution Wednesday night, was found yesterday afternoon near Mill and Conover streets. He was in a state bordering on collapse when taken to St. Francis hospital in the police ambulance, and fears are entertained for his recovery. So far as can be learned, the aged man was exposed to the rain and cold of Thursday night and yesterday and had nothing to eat during that time. He is supposed to have wandered away from the poor farm early in the evening.

CONTEST CALLED OFF FOR ARMY AEROPLANES
SAN DIEGO, Cal., Oct. 22.—A war department aeroplane competition, involving $30,000 in prizes, and $75,000 in contracts, went into thin air here. Lieutenant Colonel Samuel Reber, chief of the aviation corps, called the affair off, on the ground that specifications for entries had not been presented within the required time.

"We are not overwelcome in Canada anyway. We are leaving all our property behind us. Will we get it back? I don't know."

He has a keen perception that enables him to comprehend minute details readily. He has an executive ability that demands attention. He is a man of high ideals, a ready thinker, broad-minded and accurate.

In him, the people of this district will find a representative who not only understands their needs, who knows their desires, but who has a most sincere ambition to bring about tangible fulfillment of those needs. He is worthy of their confidence in every way, and should the voting of November 3, next, place him in congress, the state of Colorado will have ample reason to congratulate itself upon the combination of circumstances that brought Mr. Timberlake before the voters as a candidate.

JUSTICE G. W. MUSSER TAKES EXCEPTION TO TELEGRAM SAID TO BE FROM GEORGIA JUDGE

Attempts of Wet Element to Show Prohibition a Failure in Atlanta Prove Boomerang

A telegram referred to as being written by a supreme court justice of Georgia, Spencer R. Atkinson of Atlanta, is being used in display advertisements in Denver newspapers by the Colorado Business Men's Home Rule league, as an argument attempting to show that prohibition is not a success in Georgia, and that Atlanta, the largest "dry" city in the country, has 300 places licensed as "near beer" saloons.

Investigation shows that Mr. Atkinson is not on the supreme court bench of Georgia, and has not been since 1897. Reference to Georgia reports shows that he was elected in 1885 and resigned in 1887. Chief Justice George W. Musser of this city, a member of the Colorado supreme court, has written a reply to Mr. Atkinson in which exceptions are taken to statements concerning the liquor traffic that Mr. Atkinson is purported to have made. Judge Musser's letter is as follows:

October 21, 1914.
Hon. Spencer R. Atkinson,
Judge of the Supreme Court,
Atlanta, Ga.

Dear Sir:
The enclosed advertisement was cut by me from the Denver Times of October 20. It assumes to be an advertisement of the so-called Colorado Business Men's Home Rule league, presumably against state-wide prohibition, which is to be voted on by the people of this state at the election next month.

Among other things, it represents that you are of the supreme court of Georgia, and it contains what purports to be a telegram from you to one Philip Feldhauser, as the president of the aforementioned league.

Opportunity for Correction.

Until better advised, I will assume that if you sent the telegram, it was published without your knowledge. To avoid intimating that Mr. Feldhauser is unworthy of belief, I will accept his statement that you are one of the supreme court judges, and address you as such. If he is mistaken in this, you have the opportunity to correct him and to thereby show the people of Colorado that they must go elsewhere than to this league and its advertisements for the truth.

The billboards and papers of this state have, for some time, contained advertisements of similar import over the name of that league, but this is the first time that I have seen the name of any person connected with the league. The league appeared to me to be a myth, but I wanted to have some reality. However, until further informed, I shall assume that Mr. Philip Feldhauser is the league.

These advertisements have all along sought to convey the impression that the league and business of Colorado was based upon an unsubstantial thing, a thing as intangible as liquor. It is no wonder that so few of our business men have openly acknowledged connection with the league, for no business man of sober mind, whether he intends to vote wet or dry, can consent to an advertisement as that the business of this state has such an unsubstantial basis.

Near Beer and Real Beer.

In this purported telegram you are made to say that there are 300 places in Atlanta, licensed under the law for the sale of "near beer" where real beer is sold over the counters as in the olden times, and that if a bottle of "near beer" has been sold in Georgia in the last three years it is not within the knowledge of any police officer in the state. It is unfair to blame the police officers for this, if it is so. They are presumably not expert at discovering the line of demarcation between "near beer" and real beer. I presume, however, that they readily detected the real beer that went over the counters. If they did, and failed to detect the "near beer," it is because they were woefully lax in the performance of their duty. It is generally recognized that a police officer's efficiency is measured by the energy of the court that he serves.

You are made to say also in the purported telegram that the use of ardent spirits is almost as universal as it was before the prohibition act, and that applies not only to Atlanta, but to all other sections of the state, and that bootlegging and blind tigers are woefully prevalent.

I presume that this alleged telegram was published as an argument against state-wide prohibition. To me it is no argument against the proposed law, but on the contrary it is a terrible arraignment of the officers and people of the state of Georgia, including her courts. Instead of showing that prohibition is a failure, it brands the officers with shocking incompetence, or willful and criminal neglect of duty and makes the people of that great state utterly lawless. Your people or their representatives enacted the law, and I refuse to believe that these people desire its wholesale violation or that your sovereign state is as helpless in the presence of such violation as the telegram indicates.

If a wave of rape would sweep over Georgia, and its officers would fail to stay it, would that afford any reason to say that the law against rape was wrong? If you are not enforced, if you are not enforced against the laws, but is a confession of abject weakness. Such a state of affairs is proof only that officials are unfit, or evidence of an inherent vice in the people of the state. All I know about your officers is contained in the Feldhauser telegram, but I wish as a northern man born and bred, to come to the defense of the people of Georgia, and to say that I regard them on the whole as a God-fearing and law-abiding people. It is a great pity that they should be held up as a lawless people by one of their high officials. If the law is not enforced, the remedy is to elect law-enforcing officers, and thus give effect to the expression of a great people.

Resolute Imputation.

By the publication of that telegram, Mr. Feldhauser assumes that the officers and people of Colorado will be inherently incompetent, vicious and lawless. I repeat such an imputation with all the power I can command. Whatever may have been said about us elsewhere, I believe that the people of Colorado will see to it that any law they enact will be enforced. My attitude, Mr. Feldhauser, invites lawfully and calmly upon the responsibility of this state and I wish as an object of this state and I wish as an object of this state, whether he intends to vote wet or dry at the coming election. If our people do become so lawless as this telegram asserts, I wish I may that such lawless men will be the result of such advertising, and Mr. Feldhauser must be held responsible for the effect of his teaching.

At the close of the telegram, you are made to say that you favor the strict regulation of the liquor traffic. If what the telegram says is true, why should you favor it? Your alleged telegram is as much an argument against strict regulation as against prohibition. You can not regulate it at all under such conditions as portrayed in the telegram. You can not enforce regulation if you pass the law. Then why favor regulation? You can not prohibit lawless of any other crime by having a law against it. Then why have a law at all?

Yours truly, G. W. MUSSER.

FRUIT AND VEGETABLES ABUNDANT; PRICES LOWER

Local Markets Offer Large Assortment and Good Crops Tend to Reduction in Prices.

The fruit and vegetable markets are flooded with produce as the result of an unusually mild fall and disapproval of Elbert Hubbard; the widely known vegetarian, need not fear climbing prices. The European war has not affected conditions in the fruit districts of Colorado and consumers are in a position to get their fruits and vegetables more cheaply than formerly. Apples, which sold for $2 to $2.50 a box last year, are now bringing but from $1 to $1.50. Peaches may be purchased in quantity at about 75 cents a box. Pears are on the market at $1.50 and watermelons are holding on more than 15 days after their regular season.

Vegetables are coming in from California and Arkansas and Florida grapefruit has appeared in the local markets. Valencia oranges are $1 cheaper than last year. There has been a bumper potato crop and prices are lower by 40 cents a hundred than at this time last year.

Van E. Plans for the proposed building, which would be of brick, were drawn last year. At that time the commissioners decided they could not make the appropriation. Commissioner Rouse argues that the county could save enough in hospital bills to pay for the new building in two or three years.

APPEAL FROM SOUTHLAND IS SENT TO ALL SECTIONS

Shippers Urged to Use Cotton Bagging as Means of Consuming Part of This Season's Crop.

The "buy a bale of cotton" movement has been augmented by an appeal to the commercial associations of the United States to use cotton bagging for shipping, instead of the gunny sacks and other substitutes. A letter was received yesterday from the secretary of the Wilmington chamber of commerce by Secretary A. W. Henderson of the local association, calling attention to this plan of relief for merchants and manufacturers of the south and asking the consideration of the Colorado Springs chamber. In Wilmington alone an annual wholesale business of $7,000,000 is done by the merchants and manufacturers, who are largely dependent upon the successful marketing of the cotton crop.

On the basis that consumption is the cure and at the same time the key to the cotton problem that is troubling the south just now, a copy of the following plan has been sent out by the Wilmington chamber to commercial and business associations throughout the country:

Withholding Supply Not Consumption. It has been clear from the first that consumption was the key to the cotton problem, and that plans for holding supplies off the market and curtailing production were but means for stimulating demand. Withholding supplies is not consumption, and curtailment of production is not a price factor because wanting assurance of certainty; and all plans for effecting immediate enhancement of price have failed from various reasons, relief is to be found only in immediate and substantial consumption.

"The south is in position to sensibly enlarge the demand for cotton in at least one practical way, and this chamber indorses and earnestly recommends the adoption of the following plan: "That the rice, mill, grain elevator companies, cotton oil mills, cotton and flour mills of the country be urged to use cotton bagging for shipping packages, and the chambers of commerce and boards of trade of the south, as well as individual merchants, move vigorously in bringing the matter to the attention of the trade."

VALUATIONS IN COUNTY HAVE NOT BEEN DECIDED

It is still doubtful whether $955,000 is to be added to Assessor R. J. Gwillim's valuation of county property, although the increase has been ordered by the state tax commission. The county commissioners have notified the tax commission that the increase will not be made.

Court action to compel the increase probably will be instituted by the commission. In the meantime the commissioners cannot make their tax levy and the assessor cannot certify to the valuations of the county, cities or school districts.

SPRINGS MAN WRITES OF CONDITIONS IN CANADA

Declares Its People Are Helping England, Although Crops Failed and Money Is Scarce.

Despite the fact that a crop failure and financial conditions depressed the people of Canada, they are going ahead with preparations for helping Great Britain in the war, according to a letter received here from a former Colorado Springs man, who recently made a tour through Manitoba and Winnipeg.

"I feel sorry for Canada," he said. "The country was in bad shape before the war had boomed things too hard, borrowed too much money, everyone in debt and unable to pay. Then came the war and on top of that a complete crop failure in the southwest of the country. "But she is going grimly ahead. A large detachment of soldiers is already at the front from Winnipeg. Recruiting is going on and each evening the volunteers come out to parade. About 10 per cent had the scarlet dress uniforms—the others the clothing they wore on the farm or in the office. All had new rifles. A nondescript band, also partly uniformed, led the way. The faces of the volunteers showed determination. The people looked on, crowding the sidewalks—lost silent.

Sympathy for Troops.

"England realizes it is no time for joking and cheering. All know the Germans are making a wonderful fight—all realize that lots of these men will not come back. When they marched down the street past me I felt sad and could not help thinking that probably that very day as many British were killed or wounded. I could not help thinking that it might happen that a few sharp shots or the work of a few moments with machine guns might wipe out this entire lot of fine fellows before they had a chance to fight.

"It is bad business when any citizens must take up arms in this way. But England is determined—she has set her jaw and is going about this to the end, knowing it will cost dearly in lives and wealth.

"On the train there was a group of diplomats and British agents looking after the less spectacular but fully as important side of the question. Horses and equipment, provisions, arms, clothing, all are being attended to in a businesslike way.

"If only the feeling in Europe was as splendid as it is between the United States and Canada, think of it—thousands of miles of boundary—with only an invisible line between—and not a foot or a gun or a warship from end to end of the whole country. In Europe, under the same conditions, there would be a double line of forts, two big fleets and a million or two of men."

COLORADO SHOULD NOT COMPLAIN, SAYS ELSTON

Hotel Man Back From Kansas Declares Centennial State Better Off Than Its Neighbors.

Colorado has no special complaint because of the financial situation compared with several districts in Kansas where the markets are slim and money tight, in the opinion of George S. Elston of the Alamo hotel, who returned yesterday from an automobile trip through Kansas and Colorado. "The farmers have harvested bumper crops but can't find no markets," he said. "They have tons of feed and produce going to waste and are not able to repay their bank loans. The banks have refused to loan more cash and the ranchers can realize no profit from the summer's work."

Kansas is looking toward the November elections with a great deal of interest and particularly the outcome of the wet and dry fight in Colorado, said Mr. Elston. The people are divided in their opinions. Some think that an era of prosperity will set in at once if the state is voted dry, while others give the state several years to recover from the first shock. "A man came up to me the other day," he added, "and said that if the state went dry it would probably cause a little depression for a few years, but that after that we would be a real state. Liquor is no longer a debated question in Kansas and for the last 15 years an anti-temperament has not been suggested. Candidates for public office declare their position the first thing and no uncertainty exists."

The conference includes the states of Utah, Colorado, Montana and Idaho. The session began with a sermon by the Rev. John Mallick of Salt Lake City, which was followed by a banquet. The following officers were elected: President, the Rev. Thomas S. Robjont, Colorado Springs; vice president, the Rev. John Mallick, Salt Lake City; secretary and treasurer, Mrs. David Utter, Denver; corresponding secretary, Mrs. F. M. Keiser, Denver. BRITISH RELEASE TANK STEAMERS OF STANDARD OIL CO.

Will Be No More Trouble With American Shipping, State Department Says

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—The seizure of British tankers of three American oil ships soon will be satisfactorily adjusted, in the opinion of the state department officials.

The release after a short detention of the tanker John D. Rockefeller, by the explanation by the British ambassador, Sir Cecil Spring-Rice, that the vessel was detained only because of doubt as to the destination of her cargo, was construed as an admission by the British government of the right of American vessels to carry oil without violation of the neutrality act. That Great Britain released the ship only after it had assured itself that through the Danish embargo, there was no opportunity for the oil to pass into German hands was looked upon as concerning only Great Britain and Denmark. Moreover, it was learned that the state department had been informed that all of the neutral countries in northern Europe have now ended embargoes upon the exportation of any commodities that might be used by the armies or navies. This, it is believed, will reduce the chances of interference with American trade.

To facilitate uninterrupted voyages by merchant vessels, carrying foodstuffs, oils, metals and other semi-contraband material, it has been suggested that the manifest be filed by British consular officers in American ports, which would insure the ships against detention by British or French cruisers.

The protest of the state department against the seizure of the tanker Helindilla and her detention at Halifax, with the demand for her release, was not in the nature of an ultimatum, according to state department officials.

The department itself is ignorant of many of the facts necessary to deal with the case, but the protest was lodged to save all legal rights, and the reply will be awaited before any further action is taken.

The department is still without any official information of the seizure of the third Standard Oil steamer, the Pictura, and has not lodged any protest.

Word came today that Denmark, facing a petroleum famine, was greatly concerned over the detention of the tanker.

Denmark depends upon Russia and Rumania and the valleys of the River Drina for her grain and petroleum, said the Danish minister, Mr. Brun, and since the declaration of war this source has been cut off. Now we are forced to look to America for these supplies.

There is such a scarcity of gasoline, the minister asserted, that the Danish doctors have been forced to walk alone when they make their calls.

Immense Masses of Ice in Hudson Bay

ST. JOHNS, N. The season's work at that port where the government is preparing a terminal for the Hudson bay railway is practically ended and the other steamers which have arrived men and materials will leave shortly.

Surviving and meteorological parties which have been studying conditions in the bay will come out on the cruiser Acadia, which is the last of two ships in the Nelson estuary where the government plans to construct a terminal, but make considerable progress and its dredging will begin next summer.

EASTERN RAILROADS WILL FINISH RATE CASE TODAY

Roads Had New Equipment, Wabash Man Says, but Must Have Credit First

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—The eastern railroads' battle for a five per cent advance in freight rates will be completed tomorrow before the interstate commerce commission.

The hearing today turned from conditions arising out of the European war to consideration of rates themselves. W. C. Maxwell, general traffic manager of the Wabash system, and appearing in the interest of the Central Freight association, presented figures to show that even with the partial relief granted under the commission's previous decision, the lines of that territory are in urgent need of greater revenues.

Mr. Maxwell estimated that increased revenues to the Wabash, by carrying out suggestions made in the commission's decision, would amount to $550,000 annually if figures on the basis of traffic in 1913, and allowing that interstate rates could be increased also. He insisted this last was not to be anticipated in Illinois and Indiana, where state commissions had shown little inclination to cooperate in relieving the carriers.

Louis Brandeis, special counsel for the commission, suggested that nothing short of radical revision of all the rates, such as was recently undertaken in New England, would aid the railroads. The witness promptly agreed.

"Anything else is just playing with the situation," he said. "The condition of bankruptcy is there."

Need More Equipment

Mr. Maxwell said tariffs were now on file with the commission increasing rates which its previous decision had indicated "were too low." These included grain and grain products, beef, packing house products, livestock, sugar, copper and smelter products from Chicago to the Atlantic seaboard. He included estimates on these increases with the elimination of special privileges and exemptions to classifications, the revision of systems of establishing weights, and the placing of passenger rates on a uniform 24 cents per mile basis, both inter and interstate, in his figures of increased revenue for the Wabash.

Attention was called to Mr. Maxwell's figures of maintenance of way and equipment for 1914 on the various roads. In some instances these showed a decided increase over similar statistics for 1913. Commissioner Clark sought an explanation and the witness assented to supply it. He hazarded an opinion as to equipment.

"We are using a lot of old shoes and patching them up," he said. "With new equipment, that expense would be cut."

He added, however, that road needed new credit before new equipment could be bought.

Clifford Thorne, representing several state railway commissions of western and intermediate states, urged the commission the state bodies would not oppose increases in any inadequate interstate rates.

MEXICAN GARINF NAMED BY MILITARY CONVENTION

Presidency Squared Thus Far; Carranza Will Probably Refuse to Relinquish Powers

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—The Mexican national convention at Aguascalientes, which recently voted against the government authority in Mexico, has appointed a committee of five to assume the duties of the cabinet positions in Mexico City, according to advices to the state department today.

The committee is to take charge of the portfolios of foreign relations, war, public instruction, justice and finance. No mention was made of what the convention would do with reference to the unexpired president, but it has been expected that this question would await the arrival of General Zapata or his delegates.

A test of strength may come on the effort of the commission to assume authority. Heretofore there has been no indication that the convention intended to exercise legislative functions. Moreover, there are intimations, not only in the press dispatches, but in official reports, that General Carranza has refused to recognize the sovereignty of the assembly and proposed to continue the exercise of legislative functions until there has been a general election.

The state department received a telegram from the American consul general at Monterrey, stating that at 6 o'clock on the night of October 20 all of the employees of the Monterrey street railway went out on strike and that not a car had moved since. A great increase in wages is demanded by the strikers. It is said that the rate of exchange makes the car fare the lowest of any in the world, and that the company has been losing money for some time. The same company, which is Canadian, owns the lines in the City of Mexico.

The constitutionalist agency today received the following telegram from the Mexican consul general in Nogales, Arizona:

"Political prisoners, whom Maximilian released yesterday at Hermosillo, were re-arrested at Nogales today by his orders. General Alvarado and his staff and Dr. Casturugi escaped to the American side."

Four hundred ex-federalists from Lower California joined Maximilian's forces today, bringing with them two cannons and three machine guns.

LAUDER THE INIMITABLE AND THE INDESCRIBABLE

Famous Scotch Comedian Keeps 1,500 People Laughing Hour and a Half; Rest of Show Fair

When an audience honorably enjoys every minute of an hour and a half's performance by one person, it's a pretty good sign that that person is a past master in the art of entertaining. Harry Lauder is. If further proof is needed—did you ever before hear an audience, almost to a man, join in the chorus of a song at the first invitation of the performer? Fifteen hundred people at the Burns last evening did. They fairly raked the roof, because Lauder told them to, for he "didn't own the blooming old house."

And speaking of the house, Lauder made a few characteristic remarks about it himself. They went to further show that one big feature of Lauder's work is that it can no more be described than it can be imitated. Those who believe either statement incorrect might try. But leaving the work and getting back to the man, as the Scotch comedian would say.

"I've been in the last music hall in civilization. I've been in the last theater in civilization, but never have I seen a more beautiful house than this." He said by way of starting a friendship with his audience just before the performance closed. "You can see from every seat in the house, and you can hear—can you people way in there hear me?—and you can hear from every seat in the house, and the house itself is beautiful, beautiful, and do you want me to sing anything else?"

Everyone Had a Suggestion

Did they? It seems that about every one shouted the title of a Lauder song. But he turned all suggestions aside and said, simply, "A Scotch-And-Loch." After a couple of verses, he told the crowd it was just a big family gathering—around a log, open fire in a wee parlor—and asked every one to join in the chorus of the parting song, "Inchidin' the door, here, for after filling the house, standing room and all, chairs occupying half the stage were sold. And Lauder and the 1,500 people sang loudly, just as if they had been friends for years.

"The something that makes Harry Lauder's laugh worth a thousand dollars a hour to Harry Lauder is his smile. It's just personality. His smile would melt the hardest heart. It makes you sort of tingle inside and want to call everybody friend. He is inimitable when it comes to pathos. His wit is as fresh and delightful as a spring morning and his songs are as new as they are old. And such songs! 'It's Nice to Get Up in the Morning, but It's Nicer to Lie in Bed.' The title is typical of every line. Just a little thought that everyone has had sometime or other. But this Scotchman puts the thought in words, sings the words and compels both you and himself to laugh at the idea. And so with all his songs.

Harry Lauder does not act as a natural. Everything he does on the stage you imagine he does everywhere. You yourself do.

Lauder also sang his most popular song, "Roomin' in the Gloomin'." "I Love a Lassie," and "Ta, Ta, My Bonnie Maggie Darling," a new one.

During his performance a request was sent up that he sing a "Scotch song." "I don't know what I've been doing for the last hour," he said with a smile. "But I'll try to sing a real Scotch song." And, without accompaniment, he sang "Loch Lomond." His voice is clear and full and he sings with a feeling that adds to the depth.

"I like your town. I want to come back, let's be friends," he said in parting. He can't come any too soon. The rest of the show is just average vaudeville. But then, it makes little difference, for most everybody is nervous and restless and anxious to see and hear the Scotchman. Jed and Ethel Doolley do a bit of good dancing, while the man does some clever dance steps while spinning a larlat. He has a good monologue.

Martineti and Sylvester are two rough and tumble acrobats who please with the usual slap-stick stuff. Johnnie Small and "Giffel" are fair dancers. While Alfred Latell and Eliza Vokes have an entertaining act. Latell playing "the dog."

Miss Irene Bercey gives an entertaining performance on the cymbal. The show is opened by Albert Donnelly, a clever shadowgraph artist.

GARY DINNERS CROWN IN STEEL INDUSTRIES HISTORY--LINDABURY

Held to Prevent Spread of 1907 Panic; Accomplished Purpose, He Says

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 22.—"The Gary dinners, which 90 per cent of the iron and steel manufacturers of the country attended in the dark days of the panic of 1907, are a landmark in the history of the industry," said Richard V. Lindabury, in his argument for the defense today in the federal suit to dissolve the United States steel corporation.

Instead of apologizing for the action taken by the corporation at that critical period of the country's financial history, he added, the steel corporation is exceedingly proud of what it accomplished.

Mr. Lindabury said the iron and steel industry during the panic was becoming demoralized, and that E. H. Gary called together the manufacturers to exchange views and prevent wide and sudden fluctuations in prices, that would bring ruin to everyone in the business. As a result of these gatherings, he said, there was not one failure in the iron and steel trade for the first time in the history of panics. No prices were fixed at these dinners, as alleged by the government, nor was territory allotted or outputs limited, said counsel.

Mr. Lindabury concluded his argument late today after speaking 10 hours. Most of his address today was taken up with the conduct of the steel corporation after its organization in 1901. He denied the government's charges that the earnings of the corporation were excessive and declared that, on the other hand, they were but ordinary. The $1,000,000 concern was always fair to competitors, he went on to say, never coerced dealers into taking its products, did not solicit or receive rebates from railroads and did not countenance participation with independent manufacturers in pools of any kind.

Wrote First Compensation Law. Counsel for the defense, spoke in glowing terms of the treatment accorded the employees by the corporation. In this respect, Mr. Lindabury said, the steel corporation led the world. Long before the states began to place workmen's compensation laws upon their statute books the steel corporation had adopted a method of compensation which, he said, has become a model for all the states.

That the steel corporation maintained artificial prices, as charged by the government, was denied by counsel. Figures were produced by Mr. Lindabury to show that the trend of prices in the steel industry has been downward. In disputing the government's contention that the steel corporation was monopolistic in its tendency, Mr. Lindabury said that its percentage of the country's iron and steel business was not as large as it was when the concern was organized, while, on the other hand, the percentage of the business done by other steel corporations had increased.

The famous Tennessee Coal and Iron company's sale was touched upon by counsel, who denied that the corporation had acquired more property for any other purpose than to assist in preventing the spread of the 1907 panic. The charge of the government that directors of the steel corporation had deceived President Roosevelt as to the amount of Tennessee stock held by the New York banking firm, which was finally purchased by the steel interests, was false and should never have been injected into the present suit, Mr. Lindabury said.

Henry E. Colton, special assistant to the attorney general, will begin his argument tomorrow on certain phases of the suit. Five lawyers are still to be heard from on behalf of the United States steel corporation and other defendants before Mr. Jackson closes the case with an argument in rebuttal. The vastness of the steel industry, the ground to be covered in the arguments and the importance of the suit has led the court to extend the time for closing the case until next Tuesday.

Questions of a Customer

1st. "Why do you push the sale of Excelsior lump coal?"

Answer: "Because it's the best and cheapest fuel in the market for furnaces and heating stoves."

2nd. "How do you figure that out?"

Answer: "Because it's a clean, fresh, high grade bituminous coal, containing 54% carbon and only 4% moisture—the price, $5.75 per ton, being a special price of our own."

3rd. "Does it give satisfaction?"

Answer: "It would be poor business for us to push the sale if it were not giving our customers the best of satisfaction and saving them money."

4th. "Do many use it?"

Answer: "Yes, most of our customers use it and boost for it!"

TERRORS TO PLAY SOUTH DENVER AT 3 P. M. TOMORROW

HIGH SCHOOL WALLOWS IN MUDDY FIELD

Cogswill to Use Overhead Play to Great Extent; Hard Game in 1913

Anxious to get in the best of shape for their crucial battle of the year with South Denver high school tomorrow afternoon at Washburn field, the Terrors practiced in the mud on their field east of Washburn field last night and went through hard practice for several hours under the direction of Coach Cogswill.

The South Denver team so far has proved the best in Northern Colorado. It has defeated freshmen teams from the Aggies and the state university and high school eleven at Cheyenne, Wyoming. Large scores were run up in all games.

Last year the Terrors had a hard battle with the South Denvers, winning 15 to 6. The South Denver team retained most of its players and its backfield is intact, while only Captain Gray remained in the Terror backfield. The Terror team is not as strong as last year in several departments. The end year season, Lendrum and Klemmedson, were as good as any that played here, especially in their handling of the forward pass. Both had two years of experience, while Ahl, Baker and Vaughn are all practically new to the job this year. These three new men have been putting up some fine football, however. In the backfield O. Richardson, Clark and "Dolly" Gray make up a smashing combination hard to stop, but their play is not as polished as the Holmen, Viking, Gray combination last year. Klemmedson, this year's quarterback, has shown brilliance at times, but he has not had the experience and has a tendency to fumble.

Tomorrow the Terrors are going to try to win with overhead play more than they did in the past. The experience of "Dolly" Gray, who so much has gained by the forward pass, will be Coach Cogswill to use this play and he expects some great results to come.

Tickets are on sale at 25 cents advance sale, but tomorrow they will be sold at 50 cents at the gate. Parking space for autos and the tickets are on sale at the sporting goods houses.

POOLING OF STARS WILL BE STOPPED

Every 'Fed' Club Now Out for Own Players, Is New Edict

There will be no pooling of players freshly signed by the Federals when the magistrates of "Fighting Jim" Gilmore's circuit meet next Friday in New York. Owner Charles Weeghman of the Chicago Cubs declared yesterday, asserting that each club in the league would raid on its own hook this winter instead of participating in a united assault on organized baseball. Pooling was in order last winter, and as the result several truly great players were lost to the north side team never even donned Chicago regiments.

Prominent among the athletes corralled for the Cubs, only to be awarded to other clubs, are Tom Seaton, Russell Ford and Gene Packard. Had one of these stars been retained on the north side, Weeghman believes his team would have topped the third league pennant.

To Name New Players.
"I hope to be in a position to announce the list of new men I have added to the Chicago Cubs during our annual league meeting," said Weeghman. "In all probability the other club owners will do the same. I have a line on every player who has enrolled with our organization for the coming year, and on paper the other clubs are much stronger than we." Asked why the Cubs called their meeting for New York instead of in Chicago, where the league headquarters are located, Weeghman stated that the change was ordered for the interests of the organization, which is preparing to level its heavy guns on Father Knickerbocker's preserves.

Aim Guns on Gotham.
"We are going into New York stronger than ever," said the Cubs' manager, "and all the men identified with the league want to be in on the ground floor when the fireworks start. To make our interests solid, we must invade New York, and plans are being made to give the fans of that city a brand of ball equal to that played in the National and American leagues."

Stimulated developments are slated for Gotham when the third league settles its knifing. It is possible that the Kansas City franchise may not go to Toronto.

Was Connie Mack Off in Judgment During the Series?

By FRANK G. MENKE.
NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—Connie Mack went into the 1914 world's series with fanfare, being hailed as the craftiest, brainiest man in baseball. He emerged with a bang, leading the Athletics to four victories against the Braves, made four home runs, but his team's chances probably killed their chances.

In the opinion of the fans who saw the third game, in Boston, Connie's worst bone was made in the tenth inning of that game when he permitted Joe Bush to remain in the box after the Athletics in their half of that inning had broken the deadlock by scoring two runs.

Connie certainly must have known that the crowd would get after Bush as no crowd ever got after a pitcher. And the crowd did get after the Athletic pitcher. More than 34,000 fans booed and yelled and howled in chorus at Bush as he took his place in the box—and they kept it up throughout the inning. The band in the left field bleachers opened up with the most horrible gibberish ever heard anywhere.

The bedlam was of a kind that beggars real description. It was tremendous, horrible, nerve racking, even for the spectators themselves. What must it have been for poor Bush, the target of it all, the boy who was entrusted with the burden of throwing nine determined baseball warriors and 35,000 fanatics.

Bush tried to ignore the noise and howls, steady and sure up to that moment, crumpled and the Braves tied the score and eventually won a game that seemed hopelessly lost when they went to bat in the tenth.

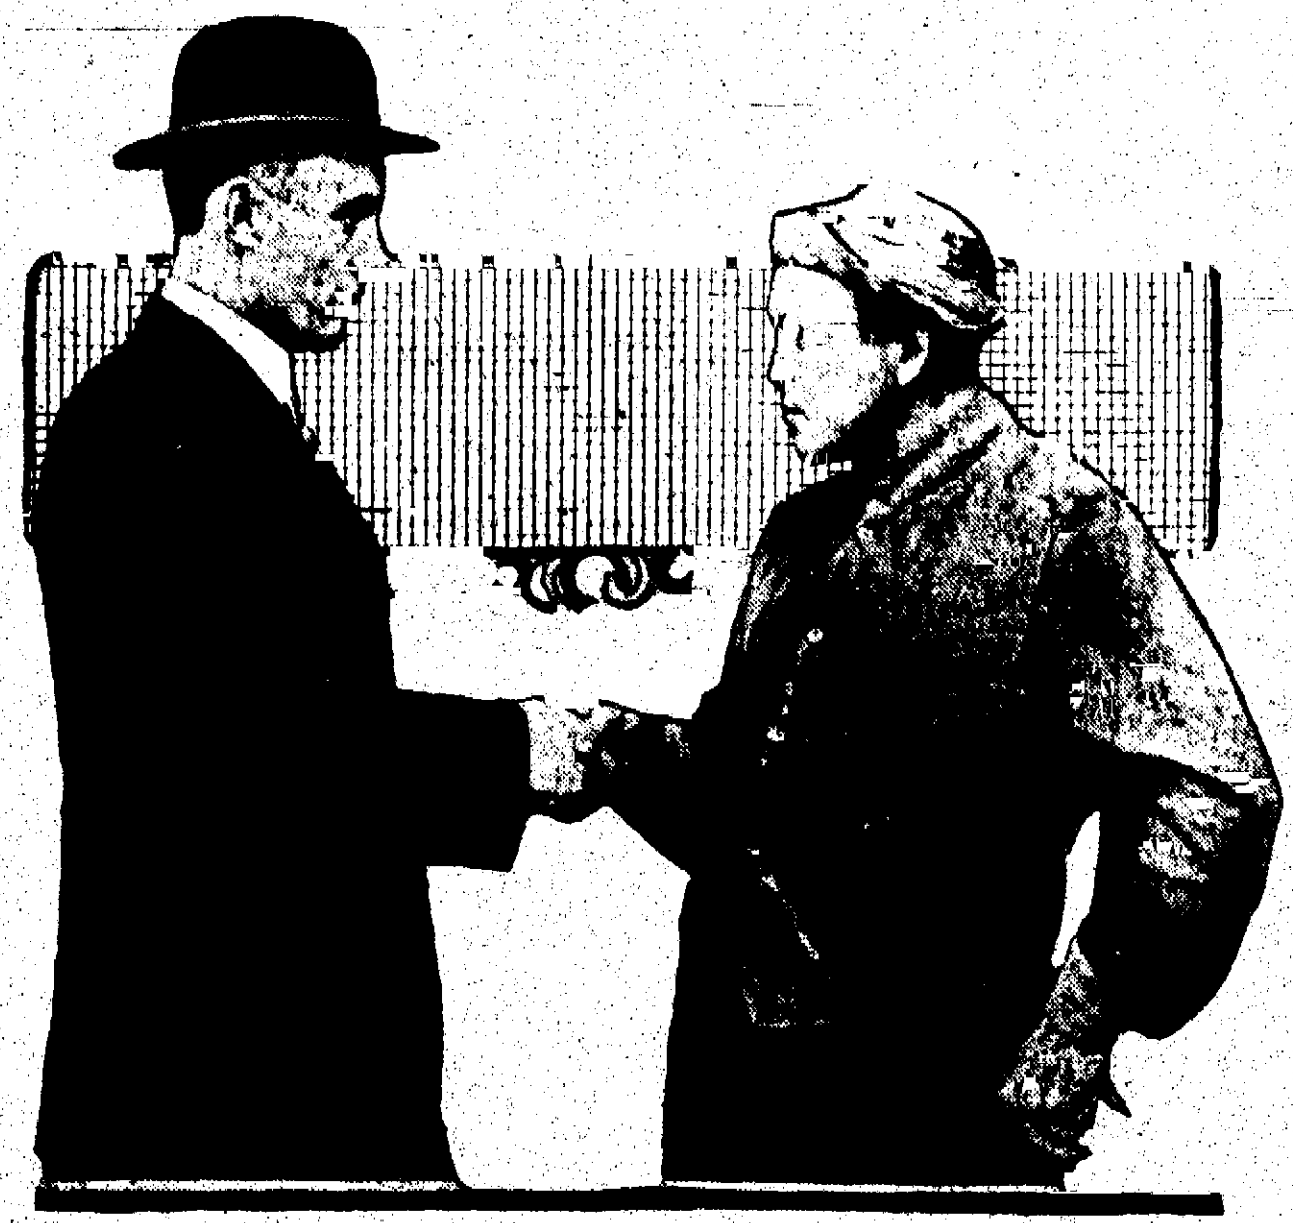

Had Connie Mack taken out Bush and put in Chief Bender the chances are 10 to 1 that the Indians would have held the Braves in check and saved the game for the Athletics. Times without number in his big league career Bender has lived through situations similar to that which Bush faced in the last half of the tenth, and Bender, old in pitching experience, old in standing up under the most terrific bombardment of hostile fans would have faced the enemy's fire and withstood it.

Connie probably figured that the Braves couldn't tie up the score—figured that Bush would stand up under the strain. And in figuring so Connie made a bone that cost his team a game and made the count 3 to 0 against them, instead of 2 to 1, as it should have been.

Those who saw the four games cannot understand why Connie sent his men to the plate with orders to "kill the ball." These orders more than anything else sent the Mackmen to the world's series ditch. Instead of waiting out the Boston pitchers they swung at nearly everything that was offered. Result—instead of getting free walks to first or a chance to hit the good ones, they fanned or got themselves into holes from which they couldn't emerge.

With the count 3 to 0 against them

FIGHTING DICK GILBERT HERE FOR CARROLL BOIT

GILBERT MEETS THE MAN HE LAID COLD IN TWO ROUNDS
On the left is Promoter M. A. Schubert of the Ramona Athletic club, meeting "Fighting Dick" Gilbert, the scrappy heavyweight, who will fight Sailor Carroll at Ramona next Tuesday night. Gilbert is the man who ended Schubert's fighting hopes in a bout in Denver in May. Gilbert is shown in his road costume.

"Fighting Dick" Gilbert, Denver heavyweight prize fighter, arrived in Colorado Springs yesterday to train for his bout with "Sailor" Carroll at Ramona next Tuesday. Gilbert is staying at the Antlers hotel.

"If I don't beat Carroll this time, I am going to quit the fight game," Gilbert said last night. "I am feeling fine, and my hand, which was injured in the last bout, has healed. Carroll is a good scrapper, but I know I can beat him this time. My broken fist caused the trouble last time."

Gilbert will start his training today. Road work is his specialty. He runs a 100-yard dash 30 times a day as hard as he can go to, to help his wind. He will do a punching and shadow boxing, but there will be no sparring with amateurs on his program.

"I broke my hand on an amateur's dome last time," he said, "and I am not going to take any chances. I may box with 'Spide' Reache, because he knows the game, but the sparring stuff is off the bill for me."

Carroll already is training at Ramona.

THE INNOCENT BYSTANDER

Admiral Badger recommends a stronger navy. After his showing against Fann, Saturday, this seems a common-sense attitude to take.

What did Barney Dreyfus ever do to John McGraw that would justify the manager going so far as to turn back Marty O'Toole to Pittsburgh?

Morale of the Penn eleven should be excellent. The Red and Blue team doesn't have to meet Harvard, Yale or Princeton in a world's series.

Clark Griffith day will be celebrated in Philadelphia on Sunday, April 26, 1915, at 11 p. m.

While this has been a year of remarkable sporting upsets, we notice that nobody has been upsetting the Harvard eleven.

Looks like there will be another government probe at Carlisle if the Indian team keeps on losing.

It is said that several major league teams will start a buy-sell-ticket movement next spring.

America has nothing to conceal and will welcome German army officers to come to this country and investigate reports of atrocities on the gridiron.

Since Strong Man Dorizas joined the Penn team, the University is finding it difficult to get a football that can last a period.

According to the official score, the Army and Navy game has been declared off 94 times and declared on a kid and the kid lost.

Why didn't Connie use Bender in that final game? Bender was the logical selection. He was ready and he was wild for another chance at the Braves. True, the Braves hammered him out of the box in the opening game, but the chances of their repeating were remote.

Another prize bone of Connie's was to leave Schang behind the bat. Schang's work at bat and in the field was miserable. His throwing was off color from the start. The slow footed Braves stole eight bases on him and Schang caught only one man pilfering.

Schang made only two hits during the four games, when a hit meant much for the Athletics' chances he fanned Jack Lapp is one of the best catchers in the game. And he's a hitter. Lapp, blindfolded, couldn't have done much worse than Schang.

The Braves beat the Athletics because they outlasted them in every way. They won because they played against the greatest world series baseball ever seen. But they ought to thank Connie Mack and his blunders for the fact that they won with such speed. But for Connie's bone in the tenth inning of that fifth game the series would have gone five games at least. Were it not for his other bones the series might have been longer.

But Connie blundered. Connie boned four times in a row and the wonderful Braves took advantage of each of them and dashed on to victory in record time.

ing, but there will be no sparring with amateurs on his program.

"I broke my hand on an amateur's dome last time," he said, "and I am not going to take any chances. I may box with 'Spide' Reache, because he knows the game, but the sparring stuff is off the bill for me."

YANKEE PILOT AIDS FRENCH

Johnny Reiff, American jockey, has returned to this country from France to found up American horses for the French cavalry and artillery. "I have made my living in France for 14 years," he said, "and am now going to Kansas and select horses for the French government. There will be no commission or profit in it for me. France needs horses badly. The Germans made it their business to shoot every horse they can't use."

Several Mackmen are still so provoked that they won't even read a serial story.

One of the recognized duties of organized baseball is to keep Bonassette Reese from going to the theater of war in Europe.

Philadelphians don't swallow this fantastic assertion of the weather man about an Indian summer. Look what happened to Chief Bender little over a week ago.

Jack Johnson hasn't gone back. He was pinched in London the other day.

Jack Johnson wants to fight Jess Willard if he comes to America, but he will have to whip the United States district attorney in Chicago first.

Rhorry Foley says: "These Philadelphians who are gloating over the defeat of the Athletics would rejoice in the destruction of Independence hall by flames."

Wisconsin Afraid Somebody'll Steal Archie Muck's Suit

MADISON, Wis., Oct. 22.—They call him the biggest man in football! And a body of remarkable legend bigger even than that he is has grown up about him.

The known facts are these: He will probably be center on the Wisconsin football team. He hails from Oshkosh, Wis., where he was the high school football team aided by a few others.

His weight is 265 pounds when he came out for scrimmage this fall, and Coach "Bill" Jones doesn't expect he will ever get under 235 after the season's workout. His booting of the pigskin is magnificent, in punt and kick-off alike. He is a track star, his record with the discus being 144 feet.

And now, as to the legend with which the Wisconsin student body has surrounded Archie.

It is said that he is too tall for the gymnasium measuring facilities to accurately gauge. He can't possibly be under 6 feet 6.

It is said that he is as fast as he is fat. The 100-yard dash in eleven flat is easy for him.

And finally, it is said, the athletic department had to have an entire football suit specially made for Archie, and the enormous quantity of goods cost as much that the university wouldn't stand for a second suit. For this reason, a special deputy has been appointed to guard Archie's luggage, and locker, because the students fear some hostile team will steal Archie's military suit on the day of the game—and then, where would Archie and Wisconsin be?

Wisconsin Afraid Somebody'll Steal Archie Muck's Suit

MADISON, Wis., Oct. 22.—They call him the biggest man in football! And a body of remarkable legend bigger even than that he is has grown up about him.

The known facts are these: He will probably be center on the Wisconsin football team. He hails from Oshkosh, Wis., where he was the high school football team aided by a few others.

His weight is 265 pounds when he came out for scrimmage this fall, and Coach "Bill" Jones doesn't expect he will ever get under 235 after the season's workout. His booting of the pigskin is magnificent, in punt and kick-off alike. He is a track star, his record with the discus being 144 feet.

And now, as to the legend with which the Wisconsin student body has surrounded Archie.

It is said that he is too tall for the gymnasium measuring facilities to accurately gauge. He can't possibly be under 6 feet 6.

It is said that he is as fast as he is fat. The 100-yard dash in eleven flat is easy for him.

And finally, it is said, the athletic department had to have an entire football suit specially made for Archie, and the enormous quantity of goods cost as much that the university wouldn't stand for a second suit. For this reason, a special deputy has been appointed to guard Archie's luggage, and locker, because the students fear some hostile team will steal Archie's military suit on the day of the game—and then, where would Archie and Wisconsin be?
